Pretty in pastels

Designers spill the tea on why they love working with pastel colours and it has us dreaming of spring

"This serene bathroom seamlessly blends pale blue hues against crisp white tones, creating a soothing and elegant atmosphere flooded with natural light and custom, yet timeless touches."

– Designer Dvira Ovadia, Dvira Interiors

Bathroom

"Pastel green evokes the feeling of natural elements such as fresh herbs, leaves and vegetables. Infusing nature-inspired colours into the kitchen enhances the overall atmosphere, creating a more organic and inviting ambience."

– Kristen Gear, lead design and colour specialist, BeautiTone paint and home products

Kitchen

Dining space

"I enjoy incorporating pastel colours into home design because it brings a playful warmth and timeless ambience to any space. Additionally, it provides an opportunity to introduce colour without overwhelming the overall aesthetic."

– Designer Jo Alcorn, Alcorn Home Design

Laundry room

"If you are looking for a calming, versatile wall colour, a soft shade of pink presents a great option. While pink is often associated with femininity, the colour is more versatile than you think and works in a variety of spaces, from modern to traditional. It pairs just as well with neutrals as with a host of saturated colour tones."

– Designer Kate Davidson, Kate+Co Design

Bedroom

"Soft, pastel colours in your bedroom's decor can evoke a tranquil atmosphere, promoting relaxation and a sense of calm for a restful night's sleep."

– Designer Bren Petrunick, Simply White Interiors

Kids' space

"A kids' playroom is the perfect opportunity to opt for a cheerful palette of pastel colours, such as soft pink, mint green, and baby blue, which create a visually inviting and soothing atmosphere."

– Designer Michelle Berwick, Michelle Berwick Design
